- If we look at November data only, blank sailings within week 44~48 have significantly increased by 66, especially on Asia-NAWC trade. Half of November blank sailings were published by carriers in late October and in November. It seems blank sailings are out of control for carriers. By this trend, December blank sailings will also be finalized in December.

■ Compare with last year

If we compare blank sailings in November & December between this year (2021) and last year (2020), blank sailing volume in this year is almost five times more than last year. Trade-wise, the increase is mainly coming from TP West Coast trade. Alliance-wise, all alliances have increased a lot and the biggest increase is from non-alliance services.
